Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna appeals to the cultured and the well-informed and the healthy because its component parts are simple and wholesome and because it acts without disturbing the natural functions, as it is wholly free from every objectionable quality or substance. In its production a pleasant and refreshing syrup of the figs of California is united with the laxative and carminative properties of certain plants known to act most beneficially, on the human system, when its gentle cleansing is desired. To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine, for sale by all reputable druggists; one size only, price fifty cents a bottle. The name of the company - California Fig Syrup Co,-is always plainly printed upon the front of every package of the genuine.

But he could give little information on the subject, although his sister. Emma Walderf Aster, 15 years old, did her best to aid him. They had to refer worked to be an excellent workman, he has been unable to get anything

"I don't know that I am glad that I have the name of Astor," said the father of the children who had been in "It doesn't pay to have the to get bread for your children. If it hadn't been for that name the two ourt today. Everybody in the house says that I am related to the Astors and make fun of my children because I

"I don't know just what relationship there is between me and the Astors of whom the papers print so much. Maybe there is some, but that is not for me to say. I never asked their recognition, and there is little chance that they will ever ask mine. I am a native of Walderf, Germany, and that is where I get the name of Waldorf, whic': most they were baptized. My family, as I know of it from my grandmother, have lived in Waldorf since early in the century, having come there from France.

"You see," he said, taking a yellow and faded document from a cloth case. here is the first record we have of our family living in Germany It is the leath certificate of Felix Astor, who fled from France during the religious broubles there and died in Waldorf on August 10, 1765. His son was named William Waldorf, and since then the original branch of our family has renained in the old German town, but today there are only two left there. They are my uncles, Peter Astor Iil.. and Lainhart Astor. There is also a John Jacob Astor, who is an uncie of mine, and who was born in Waldorf. out we have not heard from him in

"When I left Waldorf I was a bookkeeper and accountant, but when I reached this country I found that there neither its oral or written language, so I had to learn a trade at once. I took up sign and house painting and also did some carpentry work. That was 26 years ago and since then I have had to follow my trade, but of late there as been little doing for me.

"My name was against me. I would get a job and when the man I worked for heard my name was Astor he would ask me where I came from. As soon as I said Waldorf he would declare that I was a relative of the wealthy family of that name and tell me that I ought to go and ask them to help me. When I laughed at him or told him that I was not a begar he would with the second was and they would give it to me.

"It seems father strange that begar that begar and and the would give it to me." him that I was not a beggar he would get mad and tell me I was a fool. It's to Your Advantage to Buy Valley and City Property Now

Never were the prospects mere favorable for an unusually successful year than 1910. During the past several months El Paso, the upper and lower valleys have constantly been in the limelight. It is a safe statement that there has been more visitors in El Paso during the past few months than in any previous year. You know what this means. Could a visitor come to El Paso without being favorably impressed at the remarkable progress El Paso and the upper and lower valleys are making? Without realizing that this is the country where a man can live contented, happily and prosperous? Where crops can be raised the year round? Without being favorably impressed with the almost perfect climatic conditions? El Paso claims many attractive features that no other city in the west can, and moreover, it has proved every claim that has been made for her. There are hundreds of reasons why El Paso and the two valleys are going to make remarkable strides during the present year. If you are considering making a change, come to El Paso. We need you, you need us, and it will pay you to come here and investigate what is in store for you.

CITY PROPERTY

During the past year El Paso has made remarkably substantial growth. We who have seen several costly business blocks erected, many beautiful homes built and scores upon scores of cosy cottages completed, are so accustomed to the building that it never appealed to us. There is scarcely now a vacant piece of good business or closein residence property in El Paso. It is safe to predict that one year from today property will have increased to such a great extent that a person who invests wisely today will be independent for the remainder of his or her life. It does not require "old timers" to tell us when fortunes were made in a few years on El Paso property. You need not be surprised if the same thing occurs again. El Paso is rapidly growing every day. It will continue to grow every day. Its future is unlimited. Its resources are undeveloped. Its transportation facilities are improving. Its progress is just beginning to attract attention. Its merits as a winter resort are just becoming known. These are only a few of the things that are going to make El Paso a city of 100,000 population in less than ten years. You know what that means if you invest in El Paso property. Don't wait too long, make a selection soon and you'll never regret the investment.
